CAMP POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

PAYMENTS AND REFUNDS

All deposits are non-refundable.

Payment is due in full by June 3, 2019. Failure to settle your camp balance by June 3 will result in the loss of your child's space in their program. You may pay your balance online at go.nbm.org/campstore. If you would like to discuss a payment plan to pay in installments, contact the camp director.

If you are registering after June 3, any program balance must be paid in full at the time of registration. Payments lost due to withdrawal from a program cannot be forwarded to the next year's program or to a siblings account. There are no refunds for missed camp days. The $100 program deposit is non-refundable. Refund requests must be submitted in writing at least 30 days before the start of your camper's program. Requests received after that time period considered on a case-by-case basis.

BEHAVIOR EXPECTATIONS AND DISCIPLINARY ACTIONS

In order to ensure camp at the National Building Museum is enjoyable and memorable for everyone, we have a strict behavior policy. We want all campers to have a positive experience, and we strive to work out potential problems with the children and their parent/guardian. The National Building Museum reserves the right to remove a child from camp if their behavior is destructive, disruptive, threatening, or creates a safety hazard.

All participants enrolled in the National Building Museum's summer camp must agree to follow the Camper Conduct Agreement.

If behavior becomes an issue, the following steps will be taken:

1st incident: The child will be given their first verbal warning and the counselor will tell the child what behavior is unacceptable. Parents will be notified of the behavior issue at the time of pick up.

2nd incident: The child will be given their second verbal warning. The camper will sit down with their counselor to discuss the issues, review expectations, and create a plan of action either written or verbal. Parents will be notified of the behavior issue at the time of pick up.

3rd incidence: The child will be removed from camp activities and meet with the camp director to adjust the plan of action and create a written contract regarding behavior, in collaboration with their parent.

If the problem is corrected, the camper will return to the group to continue activities. If the behavior or attitude has not improved the parent/guardian will be notified and the camper will be asked to go home.

In the case of persistent behavior issues, or behavior of an aggressive or violent nature, the camper will go directly to the camp director, and the parent/guardian will be notified immediately.

SICK CHILD

If your child will be out due to illness, contact the National Building Museum at 202.849.2491 to report their absence. If a camper arrives with symptoms of illness including a temperature over 100 degrees, the child will not be permitted to stay. A parent or guardian must pick up sick/ill children immediately. A doctor's note is required before any child may return to camp if they are sent home due to illness.

DROP OFF/PICK UP

Campers will not be released to anyone not listed on the Pick Up Authorization form. Authorized individuals must sign their camper IN and OUT each day. Camp staff are required to check ID of all persons picking up children, If you need to add an authorized individual to your pick up list, contact the camp director at 202.849.2491.

Drop Off for all campers is between 8:30 and 9 am, and camp check in will be outside classroom 224 on the second floor of the Museum. Please do not arrive earlier than 8:30 am as there will not be a staff member ready to greet you. Since camp is housed in a federal building, be prepared to stop at the security desk to indicate to our security guards that you are here to drop a camper off. An adult must accompany their child into the building.

Pick up is promptly at 3 pm. Extended Care pick up for those enrolled, is anytime between 3 and 5:30 pm. Campers should be picked up in classroom 224.

The National Building Museum has four entrance doors - the F Street entrance is open between 8:30 am-5 pm; use the 4th Street entrance after 5 pm.

Campers are not permitted to leave the museum to meet a parent or guardian in the parking lot or at the Metro. Staff are not permitted to transport campers home.

LATE PICKUP AT THE END OF THE CAMP DAY

After 3:15 pm, campers remaining (who are not enrolled in Extended Care) are considered a late pick up. After 5:30, Extended Care campers remaining are considered a late pick up.

Our staff's time is as valuable to us as the time of our families. Therefore, late pick up fees are incurred beginning at 3:15 pm. Payment is due at the time of pick up, with no exceptions. Payments can be made by cash, check, or credit card in the office.

If a camper is picked up by 3:30 pm, the charge is a flat $15.00. Campers picked up any later from the camp office are charged with an additional late pick-up fee of $25.00. For any child that is picked up later than 5:30 pm, a $15 fee is charged. Extended Care campers picked up later than 5:45 will be charged an additional late pick up fee of $25.00. Charges are per camper and will apply to each child.

PARKING

You may temporarily park in the Museum's parking lot at 4th Street, NW while dropping off or picking up a camper; leave your hazard lights blinking to indicate you are temporarily parked.

PERSONAL ITEMS AND ELECTRONICS

The National Building Museum is not responsible for lost or stolen items; do not send your child to camp with anything valuable, precious, or irreplaceable.

Label all belongings that your child will bring to camp. Personal belongings should be kept in a backpack or bag labeled with the camper's name. Items left at the end of the camp season will be donated or disposed of.

Campers are not allowed to bring personal toys including games, LEGO, or other items to be used during camp programming. If your child wishes to bring a book, toy, or game to camp to be used after lunch or during extended care, they may do so, but the item(s) must remain stowed in their backpack until the appropriate time.

Electronics of any kind are not allowed at camp. If you wish to send your child to camp with a cell phone, please contact the camp director for an exception.

FOOD

We provide one morning snack daily for each camper. Snacks are nut/peanut free, and are usually something like goldfish crackers, popcorn, or granola bars. Campers enrolled in extended care are provided with an additional nut/peanut free snack in the late afternoon. Campers with allergies or food restrictions may bring their own snack if discussed prior to the start of camp.

Campers are not allowed to bring their own morning snack, eat food at times other than snack time or lunch, share snacks with other campers, or take a food item from their lunch in lieu of camp provided snack. If your child will need an exception to this rule, contact the camp director prior to the start of camp to arrange an exception.

SUNSCREEN

Camp staff are not permitted to apply sunscreens or lotions to children. Staff will supervise children in the application of their own, and will remind campers to do so before an outdoor activity or field trip. Please provide your child with his or her own sunscreen. Campers are not permitted to share sunscreens or lotions with other campers.

FIELD TRIPS

One of the things we value at the National Building Museum is the ability to use the built environment to teach about communities, and to show campers the impact the built environment has on their lives. At summer camp, we want to offer campers the opportunity to learn and practice good stewardship in Washington, D.C. While we can achieve parts of this goal inside at the National Building Museum, it is important to use our own community as a teaching tool and resource. One of the ways we do this is by taking trips off the National Building Museum campus in order to visit sites, buildings, and neighborhoods that are important, interesting, or help support camp programming.

Camper safety is our top priority; our staff go through extensive training, and we have tested policies in place to make off-site trips as safe, smooth, and enjoyable as possible. Parent/guardians are informed prior to the start of camp what the planned trips will be, the location, timetable, and mode of transportation. We increase our adult-to-camper ratio on trip days to ensure the safety of your child. Programs that include one or more field trip components are noted in the program description.

LICENSING INFORMATION

The District of Columbia does not have formal licensing requirements for summer camps. However, the National Building Museum is committed to providing the highest quality experience and safest atmosphere for your camper. Camp staff are selected based on educational and professional merits and go through extensive training including First Aid and CPR. All staff members have completed criminal background checks.

PHOTOGRAPH RELEASE

The National Building Museum requests that parents authorize a photographic release for each participant, issuing the National Building Museum the right to photograph, video, or record summer participants for the purpose of illustrations, publications, and websites. If a parent/guardian wishes to decline this authorization, he or she must indicate so on the camper's forms. Camper's names will not be used with any photographs.

MEDICATIONS

Campers requiring any emergency, PRN, or day-time medication must have it noted on their Emergency and Medication Authorization Form. All medications must be in original containers labeled with the camper's name and should be handed to a camp staff member when the camper is dropped off on the first day.

Epi-pens and inhalers should accompany your child to camp. If your camper takes a daily medication during camp hours, they should be able to self-administer this medication under the supervision of camp staff.

The National Building Museum does not have medical staff on site, but all camp staff are trained in First Aid and CPR.

If you have questions or concerns, please contact the camp director at 202.849.2491 or rkreizenbeck@nbm.org.

Camper Conduct Agreement

Our goal at camp is to ensure all campers have an enjoyable and memorable experience.

In an effort to attain this goal, an environment of safety and comfort needs to exist. We feel this is a part of the process at camp. We want each camper with their parent/guardian to read the following, and for the parent/guardian to make sure the camper understands what is expected of them while at the National Building Museum.

It is important that both the camper and the parent/guardian sign the code of conduct with the intention of following it.

- All campers respect other campers, staff, and themselves.
- All campers respect camp property and other camper's property.
- All campers follow the safety rules of camp, in camp as well as on field trips out of camp.
- Profanity, bullying, fighting, hitting, threatening, or disruptive behavior of any kind will not be tolerated at camp.
- Camper and parent/guardian(s) know what program the camper is enrolled in and will participate willingly in all activities.

When a camper does not follow the code of conduct, and allows others to be denied the full experience of camp, the following steps will be taken:

First incidence: The child will be given their first verbal warning and the counselor will tell the child what behavior is unacceptable. Parents will be notified of the behavior issue at the time of pick up.

Second incidence: The child will be given their second verbal warning. The camper will sit down with their counselor to discuss the issues, review expectations, and create a plan of action either written or verbal. Parents will be notified of the behavior issue at the time of pick up.

Third incidence: The child will be removed from camp activities and meet with the camp director to adjust the plan of action and create a written contract regarding behavior, in collaboration with their parent.

If the problem is corrected, the camper will return to the group to continue activities. If the behavior or attitude has not improved the parent/guardian will be notified and the camper will be asked to go home. Depending on the situation, this could be for the day, or for the remainder of camp. There are no refunds if a camper is dismissed from their program.

In the case of persistent behavior issues, or behavior of an aggressive or violent nature, the camper will go directly to the camp director, and the parent/guardian will be notified immediately.

We have read and understand the rules of conduct and agree to uphold them to maintain a safe and enjoyable camp experience for everyone.
